

MISSION:

The NFL Player Care Foundation (PCF) is an independent organization dedicated to helping retired players improve their quality of life. PCF addresses all aspects of life by providing programs and assistance with medical, emotional, financial, social and community issues.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Since the inception of the NFL Player Care Foundation (PCF) in 2007, the organization has remained committed to improving outreach and impact to better serve retired players. Having assisted more players and provided more financial grants than ever before, 2016 was a benchmark year for PCF.

By providing assistance with medical, emotional, financial, social and community issues we have made a profound impact on the lives of many retired players around the country. In our nearly 10 years of existence we have assisted more than a thousand players, and we are committed to continuing our outreach growth to touch the lives of many more.

In recent years, PCF has found behavioral health to be an emerging issue among retired players. Specifically, we have seen a significant increase in cases where former players are suffering from mental health or substance abuse problems. With the help of several key partnerships, we are able to provide exceptional resources to former players in need of treatment.

As the League continues to grow, we must not forget those who helped lay the foundation of the game. It is our goal and our mission to continue to support retired players in any way possible. With the help of our supporters, the Player Care Foundation will continue to evolve, and serve as an even greater resource for retired players.

Harold Henderson President, NFL Player Care Foundation

"I had been introduced to prescription pills after multiple orthopedic surgeries during my time playing football. When my career with the NFL had come to an end, it was a challenge for me to accept who I had become. To cope with my depression, I began to use the pills I had once taken to mask my physical pain, to now mask my emotional pain. I struggled with addiction starting at 28 years old for seven years, up until my arrest.

Following my time in prison, I knew that I desperately needed to continue with rehabilitation to move my life in the right direction. It was at that point that my family and I contacted the NFL Player Care Foundation. The Player Care Foundation worked closely with my in-patient program to ensure the financial resources were in place for my arrival, and with their support, I felt empowered to start living a new life.

Today I use my experiences to benefit others. I work with Transcend Recovery Community, to give back and help those who are struggling with addiction. Reaching out to those who are struggling helps me stay humble, and has truly given my life meaning. Thanks to the help of the Player Care Foundation, I am now 5 years sober and am living a life full of purpose and hope."

- Ryan Leaf, Quarterback, 1999-2004, Transcend Recovery Community Program Ambassador

STATISTICS FROM INCEPTION

The NFL Player Care Foundation continues to increase outreach annually. Displayed below are statistics that PCF has put on the board since its inception in September of 2007.

"The dream of playing in the National Football League served as a beacon in my life. The pursuit taught me the value of passion and excellence while leading me out of poverty and into college.

I am fortunate to have discovered a new beacon of writing bestselling works of fiction. It is a dream that I approach with the same passion as football. And once again, I have been led to an academic setting pursuing a Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing.

The Player Care Foundation has been an integral part of my success. Their scholarship has allowed me to focus on my studies without the financial fears that accompany graduate level studies. I feel The Player Care Foundation is cheering for me. I am forever grateful for their support."

- Andre Hardy, Running Back, 1984-1985 & 1987

HEALTHY BODY & MIND SCREENING PROGRAM

Through charitable grants that support research and offer relief to disadvantaged and distressed retired players, the NFL Player Care Foundation (PCF) has enacted various programs to improve the quality of life for former players.

In 2016, PCF was proud to partner with one of the nation's premier medical providers - Tulane University School of Medicine - to conduct its Healthy Body and Mind Screening Program. Piloted in 2007, the Healthy Body and Mind Screening program is a complimentary national screening program open to all former players, including those who solely played on a practice squad. PCF's screening program includes cardiovascular and prostate screenings and provides mental health resources and education.

The NFL Player Care Foundation's screenings are offered as a part of PCF's research programs, which help to advance public awareness and scientific understanding of health issues that affect former players.

Screenings are held in 10 locations annually, and rotate each year in an attempt to screen as many former players as possible. Screenings consistently are held at the Super Bowl, the Draft and during the Hall of Fame weekend in Canton, OH.

"In 2015, with hesitance I decided to go to the Healthy Body and Mind Screening Program in Orange, CA. I was so reluctant to go that on the way to the screening I actually turned my car around, and was ready to head home. However, something was telling me to go, so I turned my car back around and continued to the screening. It was at the Healthy Body and Mind Screening Program where I found out through early detection that I had Prostate Cancer. If it wasn't for the Player Care Foundation I never would have been aware of the cancer that was growing in my body. I want to be around for a long time to see my grandchildren grow up, and thanks to PCF I'll have that chance."

FINANCIAL HARDSHIP GRANTS

Through the generous contributions from groups like NFL Foundation and the NFL Legends Community, the NFL Player Care Foundation continues to expand its programming and financial assistance to former NFL players and their families. Since the first financial hardship grant in 2008. PCF has contributed over $12.9 million to 1,022 former NFL players in dire need areas including day to day living expenses, coordinated medical care, substance abuse and mental health resources. In 2016 PCF distributed more financial grants than ever before, with the majority going towards housing assistance for former players.

PCF Grant Applications adhere to the foundation's financial and NFL service time eligibility requirements and are considered on a case-by-case basis. Eligible retirees include NFL players with at least one credited season, or two seasons as a practice squad player. Widows and children of deceased former NFL players, who would otherwise be eligible for support, may also apply.

"I reached out to the NFL Player Care Foundation in 2014 when I needed financial assistance. Being a late round draft pick, my finances weren't always in check even as a player. After my retirement, I was out of work for a few years and was having a difficult time paying my bills. The PCF staff was very willing to work with me when I needed a hand, and their ability to think outside the box made a significant impact on my life. I'm very fortunate to have had PCF to pick me up when I was at my lowest."

"After my career ended, I knew I wanted to go back to school to get my MBA so that I could make myself a more attractive candidate for the 'real world' job market. What I did not anticipate, however, was how difficult that decision actually proved to be. Forgoing two years of earning potential while still providing food and shelter for my family, on top of paying tuition, really had me worried about how we were going to make it through. The NFL Player Care Foundation stepped in and offered their hand, which gave me the peace of mind that we were going to be ok. This also allowed me to focus more on studying, and less on worrying. The NFL Player Care Foundation is an incredible resource and a wonderful reminder that our transition out of the NFL does not have to be a painful one, and that we never have to do it alone."

- Michael Mohamed, Linebacker, 2011-2015

THE TRUST

In 2013, The Trust was launched with the objective of providing programs and services to former players to enhance the skills and tools necessary to ensure success off the field and in life after football.
